Diamond Harbour Women's University came into existence in 2013; the first women's university in West Bengal and Eastern India established under the West Bengal Act XXXVII of 2012 on 28th January, 2013. Universities meant exclusively for women are extremely essential in the arena of higher education. They become vital for those female students who come from conservative families and societies, which forbid women in their families to study with students of the opposite sex. However, most students don't choose Diamond Harbour Women's University because it's a women's university but despite it because of the commendable academic standards. Diamond Harbour Women's University has been providing a solution to long standing requirements and problems of the female students in their search for selfhood not just in this region but also beyond West Bengal. The mission of this university is to contribute to the economic, social, intellectual and cultural development of the country through the development and empowerment of the female student.

The Diamond Harbour Road connecting south-west Kolkata to Diamond Harbour has emerged as an education hub over the last six decades or so. In close proximity to the university are the Indian Institute of Management, Joka, Calcutta, the Calcutta Business School, the Globsyn Business School, the Neotia University, flourishing undergraduate colleges and well known schools such as the Ramakrishna Mission Siksha Mandir, the Vivekananda Mission School and the K. E. Carmel School.

The University started functioning from the academic year 2014-2015 with the introduction of 2-Year, 4-Semester Courses in six subjects belonging to the Faculty of Arts. Science subjects were introduced in the academic year 2015-2016. The University currently offers Post Graduate Courses in Bengali, Education, English, History, Philosophy, Political Science, Sanskrit, Women's Studies, in Arts and Botany, Chemistry, Geography, Mathematics, Physics, and Zoology in Science.

The first batch of students to receive M.A. degrees was in 2016, and the first batch to receive M.Sc. degrees was in 2017. The university held its first Convocation in February 2018 and the second in March 2019; each Convocation having been attended by more than 300 students.

M.Phil. and Ph.D. programmes have commenced in the Departments of Bengali, Education, English, History, Philosophy and Political Science in the Arts Faculty. Ph.D. programmes have commenced in the Departments of Chemistry, Geography, Mathematics and Physics in the Science Faculty. Ph.D. programmes in Sanskrit and Women Studies are scheduled to commence from 2021.
